Walk Behind me — I May Not Lead, Walk Beside Me — And Just Be My Friend.

Camus

A Touch of Class

A faded, sepia-toned photograph of a large crowd of students, likely at a school event or assembly, serves as the background for the page. The students are seen from the chest up, many with their arms raised, suggesting a celebratory or enthusiastic atmosphere. The image is slightly out of focus, emphasizing the overall scene rather than individual faces.

PROLOGUE

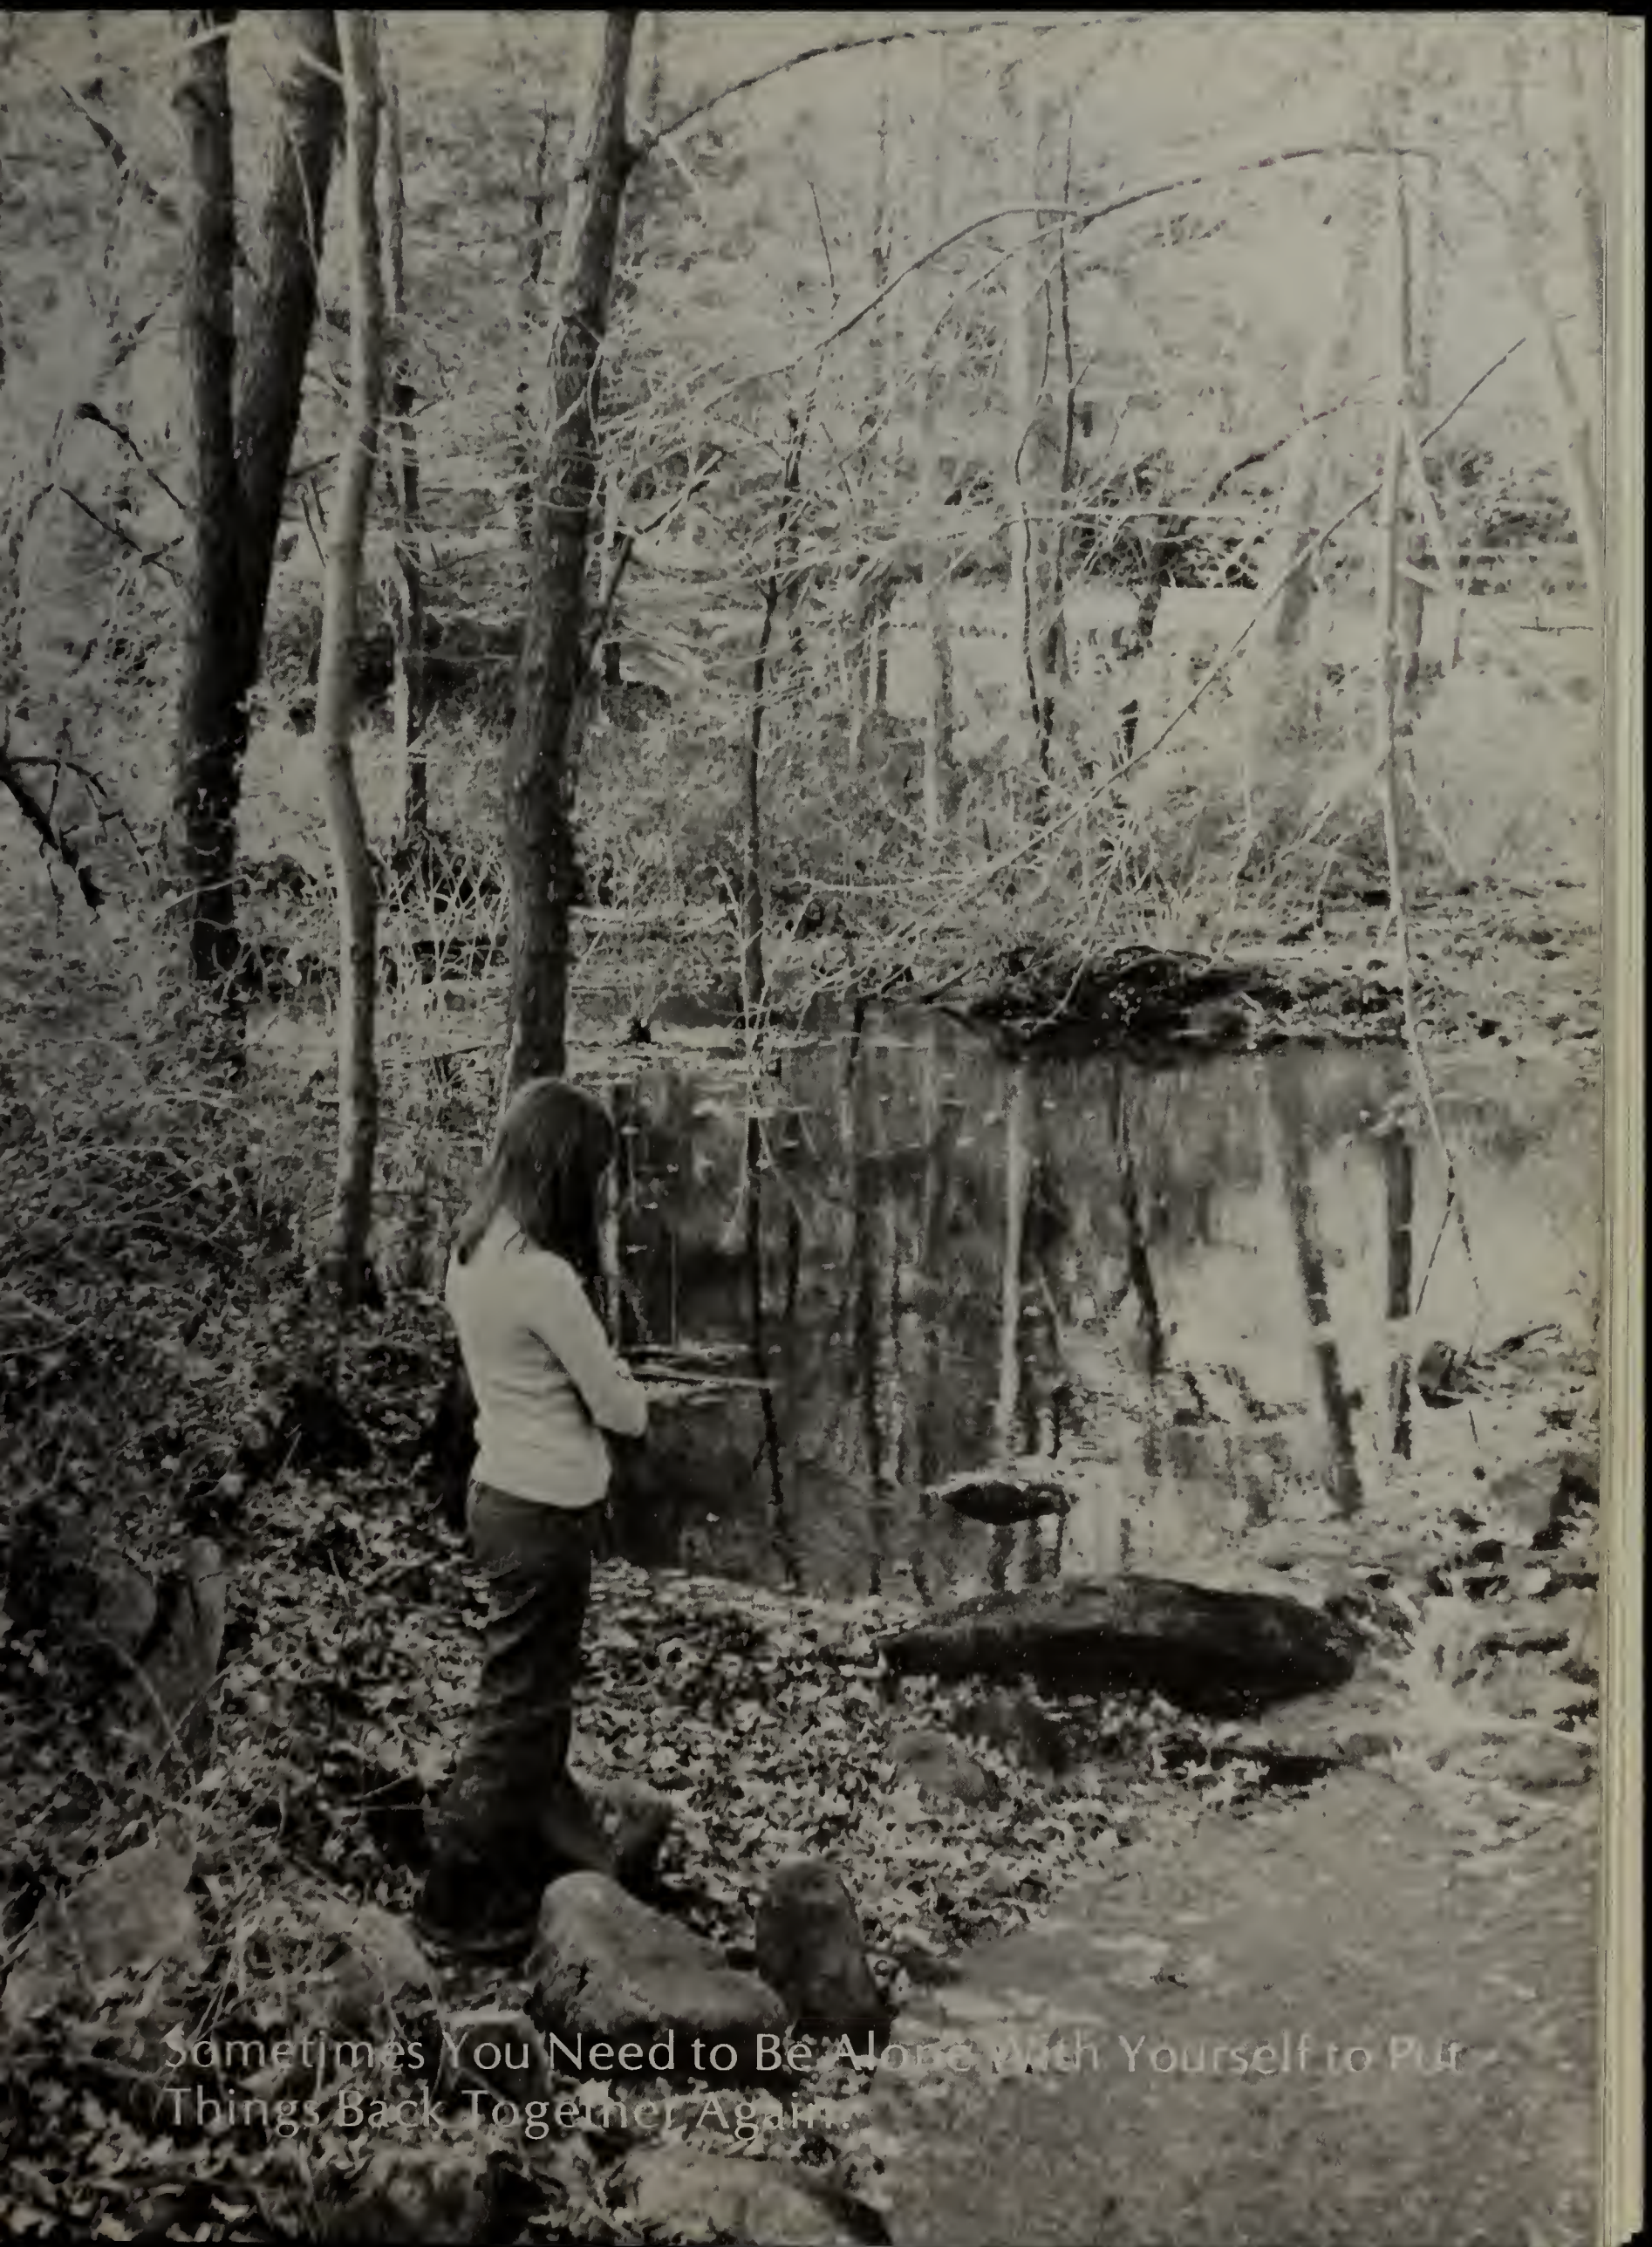

In a further step toward reality, the philosophy for life and for education is undergoing a most important, though subtle, change. So subtle that many are unaware of it.

We, the editors of the 1974 Chieftain, think that it is important enough to try to bring it to the attention of our peers.

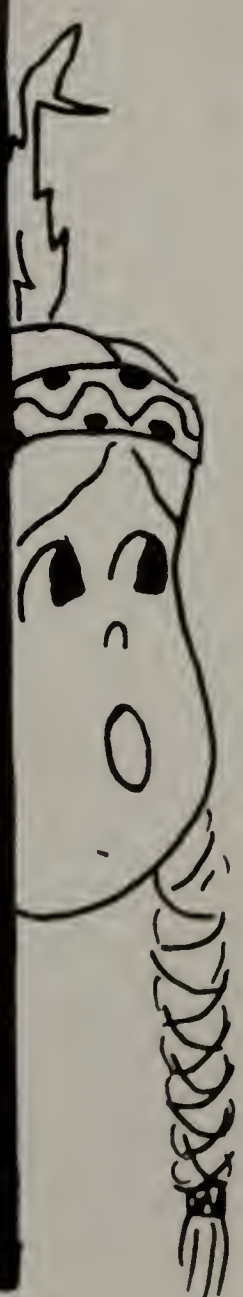

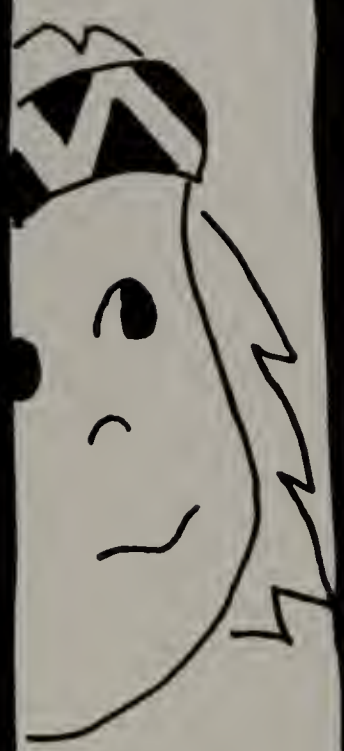

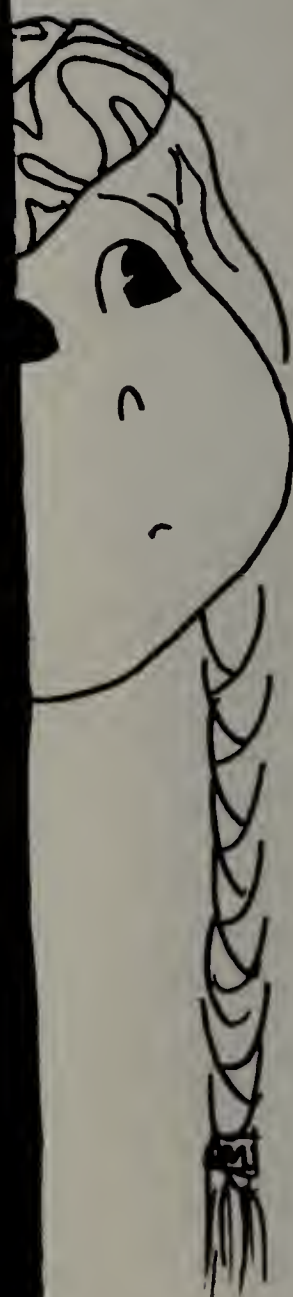

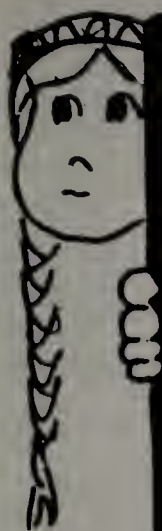

Competition, whether group or self-, has been an American way of life. It has paid off for many, especially those who were and are highly motivated and well endowed-physically and/or mentally. Even they, however, find an emptiness at the end of their road for there is nowhere else to go.

However, now that the philosophy is changing from competition to challenge, opportunities are endless for all. Challenge is unlimited. All can live with this philosophy and feel rewarded. The least of us can take one step, one word, one problem, one hurdle at a time. Each one met and coped with is one overcome and builds up the strength and stamina to meet the next one.

There is no end to challenge; it is built into our everyday lives. King Philip presents us with all kinds of challenges - in learning, in sports, in social acceptance. Here is the chance to practice, to meet the kinds of challenges that will be an innate characteristic of our lives and our world.

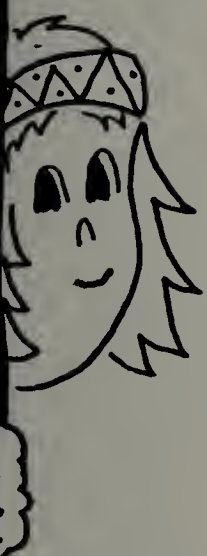

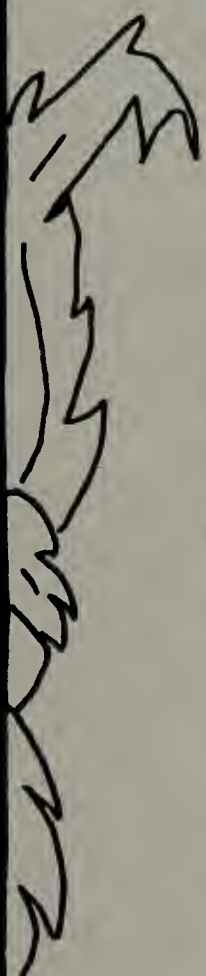

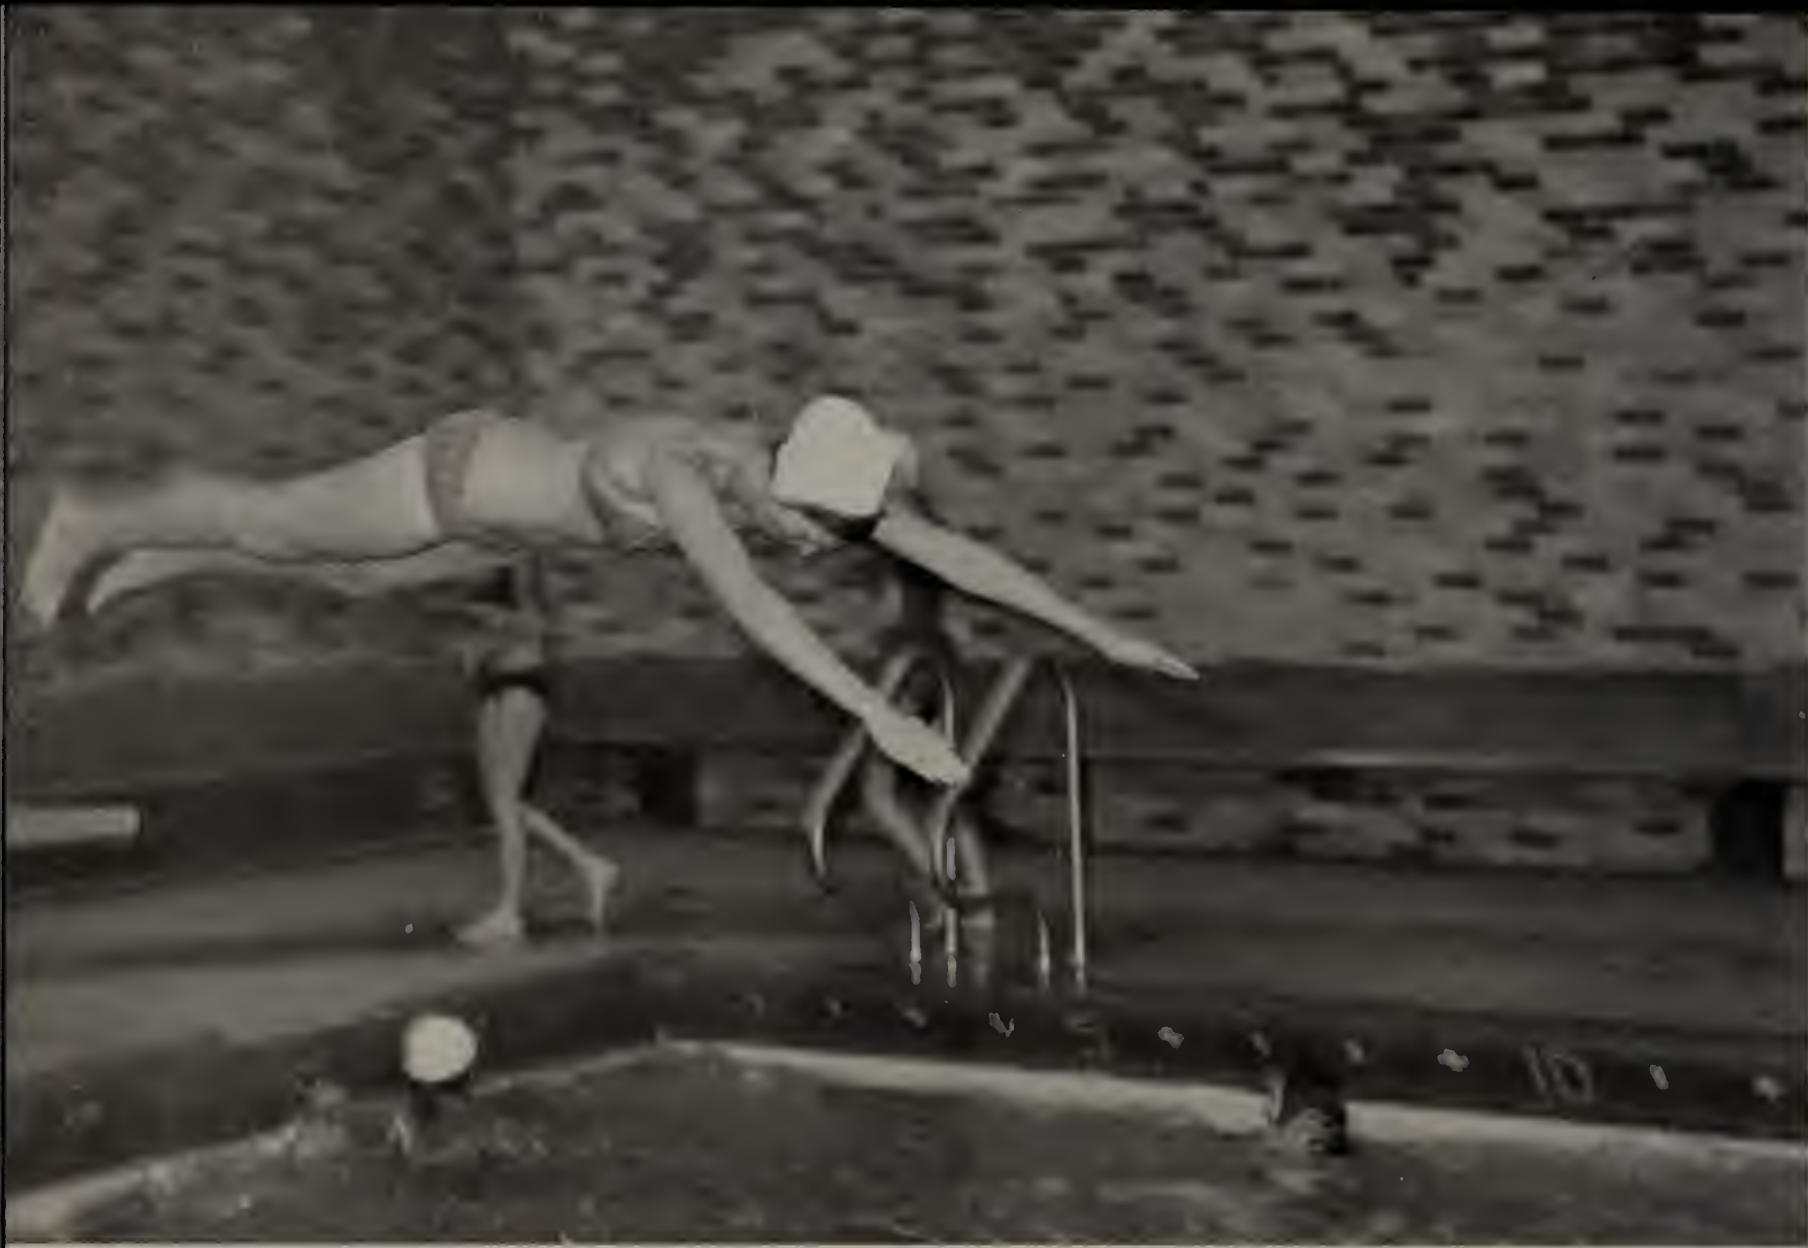

Sometimes You Need to Be Alone With Yourself to Put Things Back Together Again.

Epilogue

"The beginning of the battle is the acceptance of the challenge". Hopefully, we, the editors of the 1974 Chieftain, have depicted for you both "the challenge" and "the acceptance" in our King Philip world - an experiential plus for the greater challenges that life will demand we face.

Seniors:

Accept the challenges, whatever they may be, whether of life or career. Beware the false friend and the false promise. However, do not become cynical or distrustful of that which is good or can be made good. There is more of truth, love and beauty in this world than there is of evil, hate and ugliness.

Be one who will help to balance the scales on the side of truth, love and beauty and you will be happy.

Sincerely,
The Class of 1975

You're about to take a giant step forward into your future. We think we can make it the bright one you want it to be at New England Telephone. With a job that's every bit as big as your ambition. You see, we need people. With all kinds of talents. And especially, people who really want to get going with their future. And want to be rewarded with automatic raises. If you want a job and a future that's tailored to your talent... along with unusually generous fringe benefits, stop in and see your guidance counselor. Ask when and where you can apply for an interview with the people who want to make your future as happy as you want it to be.
